Carmel Circus to Outdo Barnum's

Circus coming! Save up your money! Get ready for the popcorn, peanuts and pink lemonade!

The greatest aggregation of phenomenal bareback riders, gymnasts, acrobats and clowns ever gathered under one big, flapping canvass, will soon be in Carmel—most of them are already in Carmel—and most of them don't know they're to be it!

It is the Art and Crafts circus. It is to raise money to equip that theater which goes up bigger, higher and better each day, as Michael J. Murphy's crew of carpenters and plasterers hammer and saw and build. It is to give the finishing touches of scenery, lighting effects and curtains, that men and women of Carmel will disport themselves in the saw-dust arena, or become freaks in the side-shows.

Parade at two in the afternoon—a glittering, gaudy pageant of gaily caparisoned horses and brightly clad men and beautiful women, with all the animals in their cages. Who are the animals? Wait till their names are printed, after the committees select them.

Then the main show under the big-top on City Square. Two hours of rapturous enjoyment, hilarious glee, wild mirth! Thrill and throbs and riotous heart-throbs! Nothing to equal it has ever before been attempted. Our circus leads, others follow.

See the side-shows! See the freaks fortune, the three-shell man, and the and fortune tellers! See the wheels of man who lifts weights that would bow Sampson as though they were feathers! See Bosco—he eats them alive! See all the rest of the wondrous, marvelous, stupendous prodigies of nature!

Fix the date in your mind—Saturday, August 4—and begin saving your pennies, dimes and dinars.

Peninsula Expo, September 1-2-3-4

Directors of the Monterey Peninsula Exposition, at a meeting recently adopted a resolution authorizing the chairman, B. F. Wright, to invite the Monterey County Farm Bureau to participate with an agricultural and horticultural exhibit, space for which will be allotted free of charge.

September 1, 2, 3 and 4 were selected as dates for the xeposition, which will be along lines similar to the successful exposition of last year, with emphasis laid upon the Spanish atmosphere and the evening entertainments.

The first day will be Monterey Day, the second Pacific Grove Day, the third Carmel Day, and the fourth County Day. Armin Hanson will probably have charge of the art exhibit in which the Carmel artists are invited to participate.

With more than $900 already in the treasury, it is proposed to solicit $10 contributions from Peninsula residents and prospective exhibitors to finance the show.

Publicity and advertising this year will be directed by Monterey Peninsula, Inc., and will not be paid for out of the finances of the exposition.

Fernand Lungren, painter of desert pictures, and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Diestall of Santa Barbara motored to Carmel and stopped at Pine Inn. Mr. Lungren, formerly director of Sargent's Dramatic School of New York, praised the work done in "Kismet" very highly. Susan Porter, who took the part of the Story Teller in "Kismet" motored to Santa Barbara with Mr. and Mrs. Diestall for over the last week end.

Eminent Artists to Play Here

The complete program for next Friday's concert at Arts and Crafts Hall is as follows:

1. Sonata (Kreutzer) in A major, Opus 47 ..... Beethoven
   - I. Adagio Sostenuto—Presto
   - II. Andante con Variationi
   - III. Finale—Presto
2. Aria from the opera "Le Cid"—Pleurez, pleurez, mes yeux" ..... Massenet
   - Roberta Arment Leitch
3. (a) Ave Maria ..... Schubert
   (b) Caprice Viennois ..... Kreisler
   - Alexander Saslavsky
4. (a) Black Stands the Headland—Norwegian song ..... Kjerulf
   (b) The Magic of the Spring— ..... Clough-Leighter
   - Roberta Arment Leitch
5. Sonata in G Minor ..... Greig
   - I. Lento doloroso—Allegro Vivace
   - II. Allegretto tranquillo
   - III. Allegro Animato

Alfred De Voto, Pianist Alexander Saslavsky, Violinist

An editorial in the Denver Post regarding Saslavsky in particular and chamber music in general contains the following interesting story:

"Chamber music, the quintessence of the art. It is the most delicate, refined and perfect branch of music. It permits of exquisite shadings and nuances. There is nothing to distract the attention from the melodic outlines of the composer's work; no multitude of rhythmic figures to require complete concentration on the part of the auditor.. The music-lover is free to listen and let his or her mind weave its own fantasies—this is a perquisite belonging to music which the other arts do not permit. Chamber music has an exceptional influence upon all who love music. The musician never tires of it; composers have loved to write for it."

The artists who are to visit us next week have met with acclaim wherever heard. Our attention has been called, in particular, to the comments of Redfern Mason, who, writing in the San Francisco Examiner, says:

"DeVoto is a man under whose fingers the modern piano is really a musical instrument, and that is a description which some of our technical Titans do not permit us truthfully to give it. He can release its potential thunders at need, but he best loves to make it sing, and that to my mind is by far the greatest art Saslavsky plays with singularly broad and melodious effects. His tone is resonant, full and large, and his sympathy for his task makes the result a striking example of pure subjective art."

The many friends of Mrs. Leitch will note with pleasure the three splendid songs which will comprise her addition to the chamber music program proper.

Arts and Crafts Hall should be filled to its sadly limited capacity on Friday night. The second recital will take place on August 10, with an equally attractive program.

Crescent to Give Way to Cross

A wooden crucifix, ten inches long, left over from the Serra play, has been lying about the Forest Theater stage all through the building of Bagdad. While the domes rounded and the crescent was lifted high and the call of the muezzin echoed, the little wooden cross waited in the dust.

And now the hammers pound again and artists with speculative eye stroll about the stage murmuring, "Yes, the wall swung over there—a Luca della Robbia effect above the gate—the Madonna in that niche — yes, that'll do the trick." The crescent comes down, the little wooden cross goes up. The glory of Islam is forgot in night, and Bagdad is lost in Assisi.

"The Cradle," the prize play, to be produced on July 27 and 28, is as keen a contrast to "Kismet" as could be imagined. Mediaeval, fragrant, spiritual, is this new play, yet with streaks of grim humor and a suggestion of the high political game of the time to give it weight and value. Against this big movement is the little joyous movement of the children, the vivid Italian children who cling about Saint Francis and pray their wistful prayers at the Madonna's shrine. There is a chance for real acting in this childish group, and our Carmel children who learn entrances as soon as they can toddle through them, will not disappoint us.

The production is safe in the strong hands of John Hilliard with Blanche Tolmie as assistant, and is moving

Local Art Exhibit to Last Six Weeks

The seventeenth annual exhibition of paintings, etchings and small sculpture, under the auspices of the Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts, directed by a committee composed of William P. Silva, Paul K. Mays and William C. Watts, opens at Arts and Crafts Hall on Wednesday, July 25th, and will continue until Saturday, September 1st.

Original work by artists residing (temporarily or permanently) on the Monterey Peninsula and environs, and not previously shown in a general exhibition in Carmel.

Artists intending to exhibit must fill out inclosed cards (one for each exhibit) and send to William P. Silva, Chairman, Carmel, not later than July 19th.

Work offered for this exhibition will be collected as follows: Carmel—Work will be called for at the studio of the artist Saturday morning, July 21st. Monterey and Vicinity—Work must be left at J. K. Oliver's Art Store, 106 Alvarado street, Monterey, not later than Friday afternoon, July 20th, where our expressman will call for it. Carmel Highlands—Work must be left at Carmel Development Company's office, Ocean avenue, Carmel, not later than July 20th. Work will be returned to these places at the close of the exhibition.

There are no charges or entry fees. Reasonable care is taken to guard against fire or other loss or damage to the exhibits, but the club assumes no responsibility for same. Artists who so desire should make their own arrangements for insurance against loss or damage.

There will be an attendant in charge of the exhibition and every effort will be made to effect sales. A commission of 25 per cent is charged on all sales.

NO WORK MAY BE WITHDRAWN before the close of the exhibition.

Trustees Discuss Library Location

At last week's meeting of the Carmel city trustees City Attorney Campbell read a certified copy of the will of Mrs. Ella Reid Harrison. That part of the will which directed the location of the Ralph C. Harrison Memorial library brought out a decided division of opinion as to whether the building should be located where specified or on Block 69, owned by the city.

Final reading was given the new traffic ordinance (which is published officially in another column of this issue) and the same will be in effect thirty days after passage.

The recommendation from the local Chamber of Commerce that the city hire men by the year to care for the streets was favorably acted upon. Another recommendation from the same body in regard to the formation of the drainage and improvement district was laid over for future action.

Mrs. Jennie Coleman, Dr. A. E. Burton and Paul C. Prince have been appointed to assess damages incident upon the closing of Carpenter street and the opening of a right of way through Paradise Park. Howard D. Severance, city engineer will help in the work.

The third Carmel man to make the luncheon address to the Monterey business and professional men was Dr. Alfred E. Burton, who took as subject last Wednesday "The Functions of City Planning Commissions." Former Carmel speakers were Joseph Blethen and Dr. D. T. MacDougal.

Large Land Project Started Near Carmel

According to the statement of Peter R. Gadd, civil and contracting engineer of Sacramento, plans are under way for the improvement of 25,000 acres of land in the foothills southeast of this city and fronting the Carmel river.

The land, which is the property of George C. Moore of New York, will be transformed into a model ranch. The surveys have been made. The contracts call for the construction of eight miles of roadway into the property, irrigation ditches, a pumping plant, and several buildings necessary to dairying and stock raising. $150,000 will be expended on the buildings alone.

Marionette Show to Be Repeated

The Kegg-Goldsmith Marionettes will play "Cinderella" at Arts and Crafts Hall on the 23rd and 24th of July. There will be two matinees and two evening performances. Carmel will be delighted. Ever since the performance in May people have been looking forward to experiencing the strange, delightful sensations which belongs to a really fine marionette show.

The Goldsmith summer school of puppets opened on Tuesday afternoon at Arts and Crafts Hall with a large enrollment and much enthusiasm.

Mrs. Herman T. Schwartz, president of the Woman's Missionary Society of Northern California, will give an address on "Our Debt to Young People," in the new Sunday school room of Carmel Church next Wednesday at 3 o'clock. This attractive speaker on so important a topic should command a large audience.

Mrs. Nellie Berkey departed on Wednesday for Chicago. From there she will proceed to New York with her husband to visit their eldest son. She will return here in the fall, coming west by steamer to New Orleans, and then by the Sunset route to California. Son Charles will bach during his mother's absence.

The Carmel Humane Society announces that the organization is planning to give a benefit dance early next month.

"HOLD SECURE," SAYS THE PRESIDENT

Paying tribute to the principles of the Daughters of the American Revolution, President Harding in an address delivered at the annual Congress of the organization, appealed for an open mind in the approach to the problems confronting the nation.

"Never has mankind faced difficulties of such varied character on so huge a scale," said the President. "The very destiny of the race, the future of civilization, seem to depend on our finding an answer, and on our sincere, generous, broad-minded acceptance of that answer when it is found.

"We shall not find an answer which will be completely satisfactory to any state or race or people, but if we shall pursue our quest with open mind and with purpose of achieving the largest benefit for the greatest number, I believe we shall in the end discover that we have attained also a large advantage for those who seemed to be making something of sacrifice to the common welfare."

The President further advised that pending the solution of the manifold problems, the American people "hold secure" to those paths made by the fathers of the republic. In this connection he spoke of the founding of the republic and pointed out that at that time "no group arrogated to itself all the political righteousness of the young republic."

JOIN THE LOCAL AUTO CLUB

That the national capital should become the most important center in motordom will doubtless be news to car owners who are not aware of the increasing amount of proposed adverse legislation which is constantly being prepared for introduction in the House and the Senate.

With the phenomenal development of the automobile goes the natural tendency to place it under Federal rather than state control, and, while much of the Federal legislation being proposed may be desirable before very long, a large portion of it that is being agitated at present would seriously affect the business of making cars and of using them.

From Washington can emanate the best or the worst of automobile legislation, and, as the National Motorists' Association points out, the most adverse laws could reach the statutes without the knowledge of the majority of car owners.

It is anticipated that the next session of Congress will bring forward many bills that should be urgently encouraged and many which should be promptly "killed." The inconsistencies of state motor vehicle regulations and the increasing use of the automobile as an interstate form of transportation and commerce are focusing attention on forms of Federal regulation of motor vehicles. All these points will be fought out in Washington, and at no time in the history of motoring will there be such urgent need for strong support from the N. M. A. affiliated clubs throughout the country.

It is freely predicted that the motorists of the country have a battle ahead. It will be staged at the national capital, where the individual car owner has only one way to protect himself effectively against adverse laws, and that is through support of his local automobile club.

Japanese Story Tellers.

Public story tellers still earn a good livelihood in Japan. In the large cities and towns hundreds of them ply their trade, provided with a small table, a fan and a paper wrapper to illustrate and emphasize the points of their tales.

Thimbles as Ornaments.

Big Program for Salinas Big Week

One of the main features of Big Week will be the semi annual fair and race meet. Both will prove of much interest to stockmen, cattlemen and others. The fair will include a display of the agricultural and horticultural resources of Monterey county as well as industrial displays. The racing will include high class trotters and pacers.

The Mexican period of the Monterey county historical pageant to be given during the California rodeo at Salinas on the nights of July 19 and 20 contains some of the most stirring events of California history. The first episode will show the ease with which the Mexican flag supplants the Spanish flag, illustrating the temperamental indifference of the Spanish grandees to the demands of politics and government. During the Mexican regime in California the missions were bereft of secular power and all paid yearly tribute to the Mexican governors sent by the mother country to Monterey.

So the pageant depicts this condition, and chooses as its incident a moment in the last governor from Mexico's rule, a scene with Governor Pico as ruler. He demands tribute of the priests, and, while waiting for it, he calls for [illegible] dance, parade (pronounced Harahe), [illegible] with the tribute brought him, he calls for more, and thus precipitates a scathing denunciation of his rule by an outraged priest and a prophecy of a reign of lawlessness. This makes possible a picture of the outlawry in California in later times. After the denunciation young Alvarado, whose descendants are even now living in Monterey county, seizes the government, not to revolt against Mexico, to which country he still swears allegiance, but to make the government just to the Californians, who wish still to be subject to Mexico but to be governed by officials chosen from their own number.

The episode ends dramatically with Alvarado and his men receiving the blessing of the priests and the playing of the Mexican national hymn.

Colorado Journalists Visit Carmel Friends

Mr. and Mrs. S. Olney Newell of Denver, Colorado, who spent two weeks here, have left for Oakland where they will visit their daughter, Miss Mary Newell, director of domestic science in the Oakland schools. From there they will tour north and spend a few weeks with their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farrar in Seattle. Mr. Farrar is managing editor of the Post-Intelligencer, which position was tendered him by W. R. Hearst upon his recent purchase of the paper. Previous to that Farrar was managing editor of the San Francisco Examiner, and in earlier years associated in Montana with Frederic Bechdolt on various publications and with Mrs. Roberta Balfour Thudichum in Denver on the Denver Post, Rocky Mountain News and other publications.

Mr. Farrar's wife, Sara Newell, was a well-known writer of brilliant attainments, and was for many years a reportorial writer and society editor on the Denver dailies with both Mr. Farrar and Mrs. Thudichum. The latter entertained the Denver guests in Carmel as much as was possible during their short visit and secured for them an audience at one of the Forest Theater rehearsals of "Kismet," which attracted them, as they had seen Otis Skinner in his production some years ago.

Magnificent pines and oaks and luxuriant undergrowth make Carmel Woods a region of native loveliness, admirably adapted for the homes of those who love nature and find in the healthful climate, the romantic mission history and the cultured atmosphere of Carmel-by-the-Sea their ideal of a permanent dwelling place.

May Determine Girl's Parentage by Electronic Test

The following extract from the Los Angeles Examiner of recent date may interest those who have had the opportunity of attending the Hollywood production of "The Covered Wagon," which has attracted national approbation:

Will blood tests establish blood relationship and reunite a brother and sister after 54 years' separation?

This question, if answered in the affirmative, may solve a mystery and prove that Sussee, white wife of Chief Broken Horn, Arapahoe Indian, is the sister of J. S. Thurston of Laguna Beach, kidnapped by Indians when a child.

Dr. C. L. Thudichum of North Kingsley drive, who asserted in the Kaufman case of South Bend, Ind., that such tests are authentic proofs of relationship, will probably be appealed to.

In 1859 Indians attacking the old Thurston homestead in Utah, stole a little girl, the only sister of the Laguna Beach man. Arapahoe Indians encamped in Cahuena Pass in Hollywood declare that Sussee, wife of Chief Broken Horn, was one of two children stolen after the pillaging of a wagon train in the Sweet Water valley many many moons ago.

But the Indians are slow to yield to the unusual situations of the white man, and Col. T. J. McCoy, who brought the Indians to Hollywood to appear in the prologue to the "Covered Wagon," has been appealed to by the Lahuenga Pass in Hollywood de-Arapahoes to allow Sussee to have the test made, and prove that she is really his long lost sister.

Are You For or Are You Against

The controversy brought about by the proposal to amalgamate the Forest Theater organization and the Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts is waxing hot.

The matter was first broached at a special meeting of the Forest Theater directors last week. At that time no definite action was adopted, but the matter was taken under advisement.

On Monday evening the matter was discussed at length at the monthly meeting of the Arts and Crafts Club, at the conclusion of which a motion was adopted favoring the merger.

It is the contention of those favoring the plan that both organizations have everything to gain and nothing to lose by the consolidation of all interests, especially if a maintenance fund is provided.

On the other hand, it is strenuously argued that even if a maintenance fund is provided, the purposes for which the Forest Theater was founded and has been maintained for fourteen years will be lost sight of and disregarded.

This affair bids fair to become a cause celebre before it is settled.

Meantime both organizations have committees at work on the matter.

The Story of Our States

By JONATHAN BRACE

XXIX.—IOWA

THE State of Iowa was originally occupied by the Iowa Indians. The actual meaning of the word has been interpreted in several ways. Some say it means "beautiful land," but the more likely derivation is the Algonquin word "ajawa" which means "across" or "beyond." This was probably applied to this tribe of Indians by the Illinois tribes who were hostile to them, and resided on the eastern side of the Mississippi river. The early white visitors to this region included Marquette and Joliet, who landed here on their explorations of the Mississippi in 1673.

The first settlement was made by a French Canadian named Julian Dubuque. He obtained in 1788 a large grant of land from the Indians, where the city which was named after him now stands. Here he flourished, mining lead and trading with the Indians, until his death in 1810, when this settlement was given up.

With the acquisition of the Louisiana Purchase in 1803, Iowa, which was a part of this huge territory, came into the hands of the United States from France. At first Iowa was a part of the Louisiana territory, then of Missouri territory. Later it formed a portion of Michigan territory and then of Wisconsin territory. In 1838, however, it attained a distinct individuality when it was formed into the Iowa territory.

Pioneers soon came in large numbers and about 1832 a substantial settlement was made near Burlington, and Dubuque was founded in 1833. The population grew so rapidly that in 1846 Iowa was admitted as the twenty-ninth state of the Union. Its area is 56,147 square miles and it has thirteen presidential electoral votes.

Iowa is familarly called the Hawkeye State.

Section 1. All vehicles operated or driven upon Ocean Avenue in the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea shall keep to the right of the center line of said avenue in the direction toward which any such vehicle is facing, except when turning to the left at streets or ways intersecting said avenue.

Section 2. # Need of Women in Government

In her address at the Community church last Sunday evening Miss Anne Martin, discussing the need of women in government, described the methods of the National League of Women Voters and of the National Woman's Party as in effect anti-feministic. She said:

"If these two leading women's organizations continue to work for equality laws by practically the same methods they used as unenfranchised women, by begging men to put these laws through for them, inevitably prolonging the sex appeal and the 'inferiority complex' in the minds of many, and if, after years of effort, these laws are placed on the statute books, the greatest inequality of all will remain: Women will still be outside the real game of politics, and government itself, will still be controlled by men, who can administer the new laws practically as they please. English women's experience with the so-called Sex Disqualification Removal Act shows this to be so. Equality laws by themselves will not and can not equalize, any more than declaring the earth flat can make it. But the process of securing half the seats in state legislatures and Congress, of winning a half share in government, will go a long way toward developing a FEELING of equality in the minds and hearts of women. And then the laws will take care of themselves."

man women are more able politically and further advanced than American women. There are today thirty-seven women members of the German Reichstag, three in the English Parliament, while only one will be in our next Congress.

The meeting was well attended. The pastor, Rev. Fred Sheldon, presided.

Arts and Crafts Now Has School of Music

In addition to the many other activities sponsored by the Carmel Club of Arts and Crafts this summer is a course in music, under the direction of Thomas Vincent Cator. Piano, voice, violin, cello, interpretative dancing and French are the subjects included in the course of instruction. Among the well known artists of both local and national repute, who will be in charge of the work, are David Alberto, the eminent concert pianist, Antonio de Grassi, a pupil of Schevick and one of the foremost violinists of America, and Frederic Preston Search, widely known concert cellist.

Joan Williams will lead the course in interpretative dancing. She has only recently returned from the east, where she studied under three noted masters of the dance. She served professional engagements under two of them and also appeared in the production of "Johannes Kreisler" at the Apollo Theater last winter.

The junior department of the school will be under the supervision of Roberta Arment Leitch, Laura A. Dierrsen and Grace Wickham.

Local Affairs Given Attention

A very useful session of the Carmel Chamber of Commerce was held on Thursday evening. A membership of 36 and a cash balance of $125 was reported.

The action of the city trustees on the chamber's several recommendations was reported and considered. A vigorous discussion of business licenses took place, there being a strong concensus of opinion that the trustees should establish a license not only for local business, but for peddlers delivering from house.

R. C. DeYoe reported upon the organization of Monterey Peninsula Inc., particularly in regard to the limitation of display advertising and the non featuring of any town or locality in the literature to be issued.

The matter of the publication of a booklet by the local chamber dealing with inquiries for information was discussed, but action was deferred.

The growing hostility of the public to the advertising signs on and near highways was considered, and the secretary was instructed to write to the board of supervisors requesting them to take steps to remove all such signs between Carmel and Monterey.

Peninsula Inc. Elects Officers

The directorate of Monterey Peninsula, Inc., is complete. At a recent meeting of the stockholders in Monterey Supervisor John L. D. Roberts of Seaside, was chosen to represent that section of the peninsula. Others selected were E. H. Tickle of Carmel Highlands, Miss M. A. Jacks of Monterey and Jack Beaumont of the peninsula in general. This makes fourteen directors in all, the full number.

No definite action has been taken on the choice of a manager, but it is understood that at the next regular meeting a full corps of permanent officers will be named.

The office of the corporation is to be located in the Pacific building, corner of Scott and Main street, according to present plans. This is one of the famous old structures of Monterey.

SWIMMING CARNIVAL

Del Monte's annual girls' swimming carnival, which began yesterday and ends tomorrow, may be held in a perfumed tank lending the open air Roman Plunge an atmosphere reminiscent of the luxury of the ancient baths of Caracalla. At least rose leaves will be strewn on the surface of Del Mont's marble pool in which ten of California's girl swimmers will compete.

Birnie Lorsey, guardian of the Roman Plunge, who has become a confirmed art addict through contact with the Carmel colony, believes that an event dominated by water nymphs belongs as much to aesthetics as to sports. He has learned from the chairman of the registration committee of the Pacific Association that the ten girls selected for the Del Monte Carnival are as remarkable for their beauty as for speed and is determined to arrange some striking frame for their beauty.

One of the feature events of the three days' program will be a relay race for girl swimmers representing Del Monte and Santa Cruz which wil bring together the fastest paddlers around Monterey Bay in an exciting speed dash. Two Pacific Association championships will be decided at the carnival; the junior diving and 100 yards junior championship for girls. In this latter event the star swimmers of the bay district are entered.
